PRESS RELEASE

2012 Arts Council of Lincoln County Festival of Trees is truly a “feast for the eyes”

A Christmas wonderland for the entire family and a beautiful event designed to bring our community together in the spirit of this holiday season. One hundred seven decorated trees from our community light the halls of the former CMC-Lincoln Medical Center. Excitement was in the air this week when approximately one hundred kindergarteners from Iron Station Elementary School visited. Our hope is that you will make this event your next stop on your holiday season to do list.

The event features an artist market filled with handmade gifts by area artisans and a gift shop filled with holiday ornaments and arrangements by Kathy Somers.

We also offer live poinsettias, trees and plants for sale by Kathy Rhyne. Our Christmas Coffee House features coffee, hot cider and homemade cookies by Arts Council board members.

The sound of music is ever present as our area musicians perform their Christmas selections.

We invite you to join us as we celebrate Christmas as never before. Open Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays until December 23rd. Hours: 5:00 pm – 8:30 pm on Fridays and Saturdays and 2:00 pm - 5:00 pm on Sundays. Admission: Adults: $5 / Seniors 62 and older $2 / Students: $2 and children under six free. Bring canned goods on Sunday for Christian Ministries and receive $1 off admission.

This event is a creative endeavor promoting arts, creativity and the importance of community. It is a fundraiser for the Arts Council of Lincoln County. Thank you to all who have worked to make this event a success and Merry Christmas from the Arts Council of Lincoln County.
